

Executive Career Coaching

Our Mission

HunterBligh was established to provide a sanctuary, an escape from the crowd, for the Senior Executive after experiencing a redundancy or other separation. Senior Executives are a discerning and sophisticated group, and the service provided by HunterBligh during its 5 years of operation has had to be equally sophisticated.

However, there has also been demand for our career services well before the separation point. We are increasingly being asked to work with Executives within client organisations to help with career planning.

We have built a reputation for providing insightful advice to Executives currently in a role, who appear to have plateaued, are actively thinking about their next step, or possibly struggling with their level of passion for what they do and seeking ways to rekindle their excitement.

The benefit of a clear career plan for senior employees is that it achieves one of the following outcomes;

- Focuses and re-energises the Executive's efforts in their current role
- Identifies a suitable alternative path within the organisation that is a better fit
- Starts the "wheels in motion" for a mature, well planned departure from the organisation

In short, HunterBligh helps Executives create positive momentum where there has previously been inertia!

"I have to say it was one of the most helpful and thought provoking discussions I have had with anyone. I really appreciate the amount of time we had and the quality of our conversations."

The Program

This is where the HunterBligh Executive Career Coaching program comes into its own. The program, which revolves around a series of conversations between the Executive and their HunterBligh Career Coach, is founded on our strong belief that successful leaders are very, very clear about what their skills are, what they love to do, and how to go about bringing those two components together and uncovering opportunities.

Our role is to provide a safe place and a framework for finding “the sweet spot”.

The program is structured around the following broad components, which can be modified to suit specific needs:

All of the stages in the program involve a combination of meetings with the Coach and “homework” exercises in between sessions.
